

Why Christian Education?

The choice you make for your children's education shapes them academically, spiritually, and in their worldview and skills. At Christian schools, the faculty and staff are equipped to address each of these developing areas of a child's life. These schools take seriously the responsibility to develop children's minds, but they don't distance God from academics. They know that developing skills in young people is essential to helping them reach their God-given potential.

Christian educators help cultivate a worldview in which God has His rightful place, and they look to the Bible for guidance in answering life's big questions. These teachers enhance children's spiritual development in an intentional, nurturing manner.

FCA Jamestown, Tn

Christian school educators emphasize the worth of every child.

Christian school educators openly share the love of Christ with students. They point students toward the Savior of the world, not away from Him.

The opposite of Christ-centered education is man-centered education or humanism, declaring man instead of God as the authority for truth.

Christian schools attempt to inspire loyalty to church and family..

Christian school educators attempt to inspire students to love their country and to have respect for civil government.

Christian school education equips students with basic academic skills with which to effectively apply themselves to live lives that are useful and productive.

Christian school educators are themselves important role models for students.

Someone has said, "Ninety percent of what students ultimately retain from their education is what they learn from watching the lives of their teacher

FCA Columbia City, Ind

